One Year Ago Councilmember Chris Cate Betrayed Our Trust

Admitted to leaking the Soccer City memo

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA — The Tommy Hough for San Diego City Council campaign is taking note today of the one-year anniversary of District 6 Councilmember Chris Cate's admission, after months of silence, that he was the source of the leak of the infamous "Soccer City Memo."

Mr. Cate used a personal e-mail account to pass the memo along to a Soccer City lobbyist.

"Public integrity and ethics matter," said District 6 challenger Tommy Hough. "The fact that Chris Cate gave away classified city information to a special interest, and then waited three months to account for it, speaks volumes about his values as an elected official."

"If you or I had done the same thing during the course of our jobs, we would have been fired with cause," said Hough.

To emphasize the point, the Tommy Hough campaign has released a new video:
